Save time, work more effectively and provide better access to everything your library offers.

When your library is integrated within one cooperative system, you see three very real benefits:
- Staff get more done in less time and are less frustrated with workarounds and redundant efforts
- Your users get better, faster access to more resources
- You’ve now got the time and tools to meet the specific needs of the people you serve

OCLC WorldShare is both a cloud-based, software platform and a set of services built upon it. The platform provides the cooperative technical infrastructure where WorldCat data and WorldShare applications work together. WorldShare Management Services offer a completely integrated, web-based set of library management applications.
