Digital resources

The Library subscribes to and recommends a wide range of digital resources to support your studies. Below you will find a list of digital resources which offer general support, with content suitable for most subject areas. To browse subject specific resources please see the digital resources tab of the relevant subject resource site. Some of these resources will require a password for access, details of which will be included. Other resources may require you to log-in to your College account if accessing them from a non-College computer or device (including those which are linked to the College wi-fi).

Okay, I can certainly help you with that! I'm not quite sure what you mean by 'best book'. Could you please provide more details? In the meantime, here are some general books about books that you might find interesting:

Barton Peveril Library Resources:

1. Bibliophile : diverse spines by Jane Mount and Jamise Harper: (Available: 1 copy) This book is a richly illustrated collection that uplifts the works of authors who are often underrepresented in the literary world. It includes themed book stacks and reading recommendations from BIPOC literary influencers. It's great for discovering unsung literary heroes and diversifying your reading list. 📖

External Resources (Not stocked by the college library):

1. The Horn Book Magazine (1952): This magazine focuses on children's literature and includes articles and reviews. It could be useful if you're interested in the best books for children. 📖
2. The Golden Book Magazine (1929): This magazine features fiction and could be a source for discovering classic stories. 📖
3. Books from the Library of John Lane, Publisher (1929): This catalogue provides a glimpse into the collection of a publisher, which might be interesting for book lovers. 📖
4. The Academy (1898): This journal includes articles and reviews related to books and literature. 📖
5. The Library (1900): This resource focuses on bibliography and library-related topics. 📖

I've also found some external resources that might be of interest, though please not

1. From The Ring To The Mind: Andrew Tate's Extraordinary Rise to the Warrior Elite principles he espouses. (Not stocked by the college library)
2. ANDREW TATE - BOOK OF WISDOM by Unknown: This book compiles interview development. (Not stocked by the college library)
