van de Bilt Sales & Marketing Stand 13

We represent a number of academic, scientific and professional publishers towards bookshops and libraries in the UK, Benelux and Eire. Amongst our lists are: The Royal Society of Chemistry, IOS Press, Mary Ann Liebert, University College Dublin Press, Multi-Science Publishing and Schmidt Periodicals. Van de Bilt Sales & Marketing is neither a bookseller nor a subscription agent. Our function is to promote the literature produced by publishers, to assist in any problems you may have with these publishers, and to discuss and report trends in our trade.

At UKSG 2004 Janet and Theo van de Bilt present four of their lists:

Mary Ann Liebert Inc., founded in 1980, is universally acknowledged for the establishment of new, authoritative publications in exciting and promising areas of biotechnology, biomedical research, clinical medicine, surgery, and science. Find out more about the Liebert Online Programme, and such cutting-edge titles as Biosecurity & Bioterrorism, Human Gene Therapy, AIDS Research and Human Retroviruses and Foodborne Pathogens and Disease. For further details and links to free e-samples visit: www.liebertonline.com. For information about the GEN Biotechnology Database visit: www.gendatabaseonline.com

Schmidt Periodicals, specialists for back sets, volumes and issues of periodicals, serials and reference works in all subjects and major Western languages. With a stock of more than 3 million antiquarian volumes and high quality reprints, we can supply very rare items as well as more recently published journals. Our worldwide search service from bases in Europe and the United States allows us to find and quote for titles that cannot be supplied immediately from stock. For further details check: www.periodicals.com

IOS Press, established in 1987 in Amsterdam, publishes both journals and books in a broad range of subjects: Biomedicine and Health, Science, Technology and Computers and Telecommunication. IOS publishes 55 journals, most of which are available electronically, and produces about 100 new book titles every year. For further details check: www.iospress.nl

Multi-Science Publishing, <http://www.multi-science.co.uk/>, is a small independent company which has been serving Science and Technology since 1961. Strong subjects are Energy, Noise Control and Acoustics. All MSP journals are available electronically. There is also a small but very pertinent book programme.
